HOW TO TELL IF YOUR BABY IS GETTING ENOUGH MILK:

Every mother-baby pair is different! That makes it hard to say exactly how your baby should be eating but here are some guidelines

In the first few days, your baby is getting rich, yellow colostrum (first milk). This is all your baby needs. Here are some ways to make sure your baby is getting enough milk:

In the first 24-48 hours,

- attempt to breastfeed whenever your baby is awake, or every 3 hours.
- Practice skin-to-skin care as much as possible.
- It is common for newborns to "cluster feed" (need to be breastfeeding very frequently) for a daily 4-6 hour stretch, often followed by a long period of sleep. This is normal behavior and helps stimulate an ample milk supply as your baby becomes an expert at latching and removing milk.

In days 3 to 5 (48 to 120 hours after the baby was born):

- Breastfeed at least 8 or more times in 24 hours.
- At least 3-4 wet diapers per day by day 3 of life
- The normal change in stools over the first 2-5 days of life: meconium (dark green, tarry) to transitional stools (lighter green or brown) to true breastmilk stools (yellow, seedy, or loose). The number of stools will increase each day.

After 3-5 days, when your milk increases, you will also notice:

- Your breasts feel full before a feeding and softer afterward,
- A letdown sensation or milk dripping from the other breast,
- You can hear your baby swallow,
- You can see milk in your baby's mouth,
- The processed product (stool!) coming out the other end!

After the first week, your baby should:

- Breastfeed at least 8-12 times in 24 hours (every 2-3 hrs, "cluster feeding" periods are normal)
- Breastfeed about 10-20 minutes at each feeding
- Be happy during and after a feeding
- Gain about 4-7 oz per week (after a small weight loss the first week)
- Return to birth weight by 2 weeks of age
- Have 6 or more pale colored, wet diapers in 24 hours
- Have 4-12 stools in 24 hours
- Be alert and bright-eyed for several periods each day

Call your baby's doctor if:

- Your infant sucks only briefly, very softly or irregularly
- Your baby is very jaundiced (yellow) and getting more yellow
- You have severe, constant nipple pain
- Your baby fights the breast or cries after a minute or two
- Your baby has fewer than 6 wet diapers a day
- Your baby has little or no stool, or has dark green mucus stools
- Your baby seems weak, tired, or not interested in feeding
